The step is unquestionably reduced rates of postage, are practically one of considerable importance, and it has, experienced to some extent no doubt, taken the community by surprise. The question is, however, by no means a new one. For some rates-more especially those on letters to and from the Traited Kingdom—were much higher than they should be and the feeling! frequently found expression in the Press. We have, on several occasions, pointed out the glaring inequalities existing, and they have been frankly admitted. The Postmaster General of this Colony has, ever been put to mnuecessary expenditure by a since his appointment, shown himself shuffling and double-dealing enemy, the zéalous to procure reductions in the postage, and at different periods during the the Woosung Railway has been sold to the made, helping considerably to equalise the any official source, nor is it stated to be any appreciable change in the newspaper postage to be levied within foreign settlements. It may possibly be objected by some, that the new privilege is one that will have to be purchased, and can, therefore hardly be regarded as a concession. This is perfectly true. The reduction in rates which will be secured by joining the Postal Union will have to be paid for. There as most people are aware, a heavy loss on the service to the East. By Hongkoner joining the Postal Union this will be creased. The Home Government, anxious, mission on the China station. The crew bave however, to bring in all the Eastern Colonies and Dependencies, proposed in a despatch received in June that Hongkong should join the Postal Union, and pay half the additional loss involved, or £6,300 per annum. This sum naturally seemed to the Authorities here very large compared with those paid by Coylon and the Straits Settlements, which amount to £1,650 and £2,500 respectively, more especially considering that half of the sent-from and goes to the ports of China and posed contribution, or £3,150 per annum, would be a fair sum for Hongkong to pay. A telegram was received from London on the 7th ult., in answer to their reply to the H.M.S. Sparton at sea on the 17th Juy, in his circular, stating that £3,150 would 1 the Postal Union charge to the Colony Even this sum is large beside the Ceylon contribution, but this Colony is, it must be remembered, some three thousand miles further from Europe than that island. . As service for the Treaty ports of China and Japan, the Home-Government-will, we suppose, bear their share of the loss. Hongkong has simply to bear its own proportion, which would not be diminished if the ports were made to contribute. They, of course, will enjoy an unpaid for advantage. This seems rather unfair, but it cannot be rectified. Th American and Japanese opposition those ports renders it impossible to make them contribute, and as their benefit this Colony, we have no legitimate cause to grumble. To grudge them their good gracious nor generous. The advantages obtained by the Colony entering the Postal Union being, then, obvious and undeniable, and the cost being only what is after all strictly fair, the one question remaining is whether the gain will balance the contribution. The GOVERNOR after a careful examination of the calculasatisfied that the saving to the general public from the adoption of the proposal to join the Postal Union will amount to a considerably larger sum than the subsidy Hongkong standing. is expected to pay. There will be a loss to the revenue also, but that is, His Excellency assures us, sufficiently clastic to bear it. There is every reason to believe that Sir ARTHUR KENNEDY'S anticipations will be amply-verified, and, this admitted, no valid objection can be offered to the Council on Thursday. The Post Office will no doubt cease to be a source of should be a matter for regret. With an enlightened government the first consideration should always be the welfare and convenience chief, or did he intend to challenge to fight certainly not one from which a revenue drink, upon which he replied, No, I will not to the prosperity of a nation, and so long as the service pays its expenses | $25 to keep the peace for three months. nothing more should be expected. In America, where all the services are worked on the most economical scale, the Post Office is a source of less, owing to the determination of the Government that it shall be efficiently maintained and the rates be low. In Great Britain, on the contrary, a considerable revenue is still derived from the Postal Department, which may be explained chiefly by the greater density of population and consequent lower cost of delivery. But it is notorious that some of the lower officials at home are underpaid, and, as they are exposed to a good deal of temptation, it would be alike just and politic to spend a portion of the profits in increasing the remuneration of these hardly worked employes. The time is approaching, as Mr. Listur remarks in his distante off Lan-pl, the attacking party coming report, when no Post Office will be expected to do more than pay working expenses, and it is as well to look the fact in the face now. There are plenty of ways of making up for the expected loss, no doubt. In spite of sui with a party of police. # NEWS FOR THE ENGLISH MAI

THE CHEFOO CONVENTION. The news received from the North of the conclusion of the negotiations between the British Minister and L. Hung-Chang, and the settlement of the difficulty between the two countries will be received with satisfaction. The matters in dispute have been so long debated that not only was the patience of the public protty nearly exhausted; but the condition of trade had also been most injuriously affected thereby. intelligence that the questions at issue have been decided will, therefore be everywhere hailed with pleasure. We are not surprised that the Chinese Government has [small schooner, and went back to the wreck to given in. There was never much doubt of try to save some of the cargo. depot for the trade of the West Coast, the opening of which to foreign trade has long been desired. Its opening can scarcely fail to give an impetua to trade, but it is possible about Pakhoi possessing great advantages over the Hainan port. Wenchow is a seaport on the coast of Chekiang, situated nearly midway between Roochow and Ningpo. It is a place of some little importance, and has before been mentioned as likely to one Withu. This place lies a few miles above Nanking on the Yangtsze, and like that city was occupied and injured by the Taepings. It is the centre of a rather extensive commerce, and will soon, doubtless, become one of the most flourishing river ports. Ichang is situated in the western division of Hupeh. and is one of the most centrally located cities in all China: It is regarded, we believe, as likely to become a great mart for the distribution of toreign produce. A substantial gain will have been effected by the opening. of these now ports, but it is to be hoped that morchants will not be too sanguine and expect impossible results all at once. With regard to the remainder of the points gained; little is known definitely. At present

main items of the agreement arrived at Union Insurance Society of Canton-$590 per Neither the amount of the indemnity nor what it is to cover have yet transpired. Nothing has been said either about the excessive lekin taxation or the blockade of Hougkong by Canton Shellfish-10 bags, at $97.00, by Fook Hing | Customs cruisers, but it is most probable that the whole question of illegal taxation of trade will be considered when the treaties are revised, while the Hongkong grievano will form a matter for separate discussion. Further details of the settlement will be eagerly looked forward to. It is gratifying to know that the terms of the Milled Rice-2,000 piouls, at $1.61, by Yuen i sottlement are to take immediate effect. This is, at least, some consolation for having been kept so many months in a state of suspense. The British Minister is to be congratulated on having achieved a diplomatic victory and secured some decisive results, though it has been won after a hard and, as it seems to us, a somewhat needlessly protracted struggle.
